

Perusing through my Windows 3.1 directory, I came across a file called REGLOAD.EXE. I assume this is part of the registration database, but neither my Windows manual, Win Resource Kit, nor PC Mag's description of files in the Windows directory had a reference to it. At least not one that I could find. Does REGEDIT.EXE use it? Or am I way off base?